PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE:

Lecturer, School of Public and International Affairs, University of Georgia, Athens, GA: 08/2004-Present.

After completing a two year Research Fellowship with the Centre for the Study of Terrorism and Political Violence, I have returned as a lecturer at the University of Georgia’s School of Public and International Affairs teaching “Theories of International Relations”, “Terrorism”, “Conflict, Development, and Security”, “Religion and Politics”, and “American Government”. Courses focus on political theory, decision-making and political strategy. Courses deal with the evolution of political institutions at the state and sub-state level, political participation both conventional and violent, and analytical social scientific tools such as theoretical frameworks and research methods.

Assistant Editor, Perspectives on Terrorism, The Terrorism Research Initiative, www.terrorismanalysts.com: 03/2008-Present.

Serve as an assistant editor to the journal, Perspectives on Terrorism. Receive manuscripts directly from the top terrorism researchers in the industry. Review, correct, and make substantive critiques of articles for publication. This journal was founded by academics and practitioners in counter-terrorism to serve as a vehicle for sharing thoughts and research in a collaborative fashion. As such it stands out in the terrorism literature as an open and professional forum for debate.

Research Fellow, Centre for the Study of Terrorism and Political Violence, University of St. Andrews, St. Andrews, Fife, KY16 9AX, United Kingdom: 01/2008-08/2009.

Served as a researcher for the Centre for the Study of Terrorism and Political Violence at the University of St. Andrews. Conducted research in a variety of facets of the study of political violence, including but not limited to, organizational design of terrorist groups, critical infrastructure protection, and non-proliferation policy. Responsible for conference management, research pursuant to critical infrastructure protection, contributing to teaching load with the MLitt in Terrorism Studies, and meeting publication requirements.

Research Fellow, Center for International Trade and Security (CITS), University of Georgia, Athens, GA: 08/2004-01/2008.

Worked with a think tank attached to the University of Georgia. CITS specializes in issues of non-proliferation, especially the area of export controls and border security. Worked closely with US national agencies having portfolios regarding non-proliferation. Aided in research relating to export control reform, enforcement, and application in emerging areas of proliferation concern, including conducting country-specific proliferation risk analyses for the Department of State's Export Control and Related Border Security (EXBS) program, grant writing for legislative outreach programs in South and East Asia, and report composition.

Research Assistant, Department of Public Administration, University of Georgia, Athens, GA: 05/2004-08/2004.

During the summer of 2003, served as a research assistant for faculty of the Department of Public Administration at the University of Georgia. Conducted research pursuant to a publication on I.R.S. restructuring under the Rossatti administration, and the implications of the restructuring on other agencies in the executive bureaucracy.

Teaching Assistant, School of Public and International Affairs, University of Georgia, Athens, GA: 01/2004-08/2004.

Served as a teaching assistant for a large section of Introduction to Political Science for the faculty of the School for Public and International Affairs at the University of Georgia. Responsible for classroom organization and presentation, grading, and assisting the professor in matters involving students.

English Teacher, Inlingua Sprachschule, Dessau, Germany: 03/2000-10/2000.

Worked as a freelance teacher of English in Germany. Responsible for curriculum development and classroom presentation. Primarily taught for the Deutsche Arbeitsamt teaching job skills courses for recipients of federal unemployment benefits. Also taught courses in Business and International Trade and Finance for corporate clients seeking a firmer grasp of Business English.
